Liability Waiver/Code of Conduct

I, the undersigned, in full recognition and appreciation of the dangers and hazards inherent in international travel to which I may be exposed during the international GeoCamp Iceland program, do hereby agree to assume all the risks, fiduciary and legal responsibilities surrounding my participation. The National Council for Geographic Education (NCGE), its officers, directors, employees and/or agents assume no liability for accidents or injuries occurring on international educational programs, tours or activities and provides no funds to defray medical costs as a result of accident, illness or injury. Individual participation is entirely voluntary, and all participants are strongly urged to have their own health, trip and/or personal/baggage insurance. NCGE provides an opportunity to participate in GeoCamp Iceland for its members and their guests to enhance their curiosity about world cultures and physical environments. Participants will conduct themselves in an appropriate manner that represents the NCGE in a positive light.

I have read the above and acknowledge full understanding and acceptance of its content as a participant.
